ENCUMBERED APPROPRIATIONS AND PROJECT RESERVE FUND

Sec. 118. When each capital improvement project appropriated by the 1993 General Assembly, other than those projects under the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina, is placed under construction contract, direct appropriations shall be encumbered to include all costs for construction, design, investigation, administration, movable equipment, and a reasonable contingency. Unencumbered direct appropriations remaining in the project budget shall be placed in a project reserve fund credited to the Office of State Budget and Management. Funds in the project reserve may be used for emergency repair and renovation projects at State facilities with the approval of the Director of the Budget. The project reserve fund may be used, at the discretion of the Director of the Budget, to allow for award of contracts where bids exceed appropriated funds, if those projects supplemented were designed within the scope intended by the applicable appropriation or any authorized change in it, and if, in the opinion of the Director of the Budget, all means to award contracts within the appropriation were reasonably attempted. At the discretion of the Director of the Budget, any balances in the project reserve fund shall revert to the original source.

Requested by: Senators Daniel, Plyler, Kaplan, Representatives Nesbitt, Diamont
PROJECT COST INCREASE

Sec. 119. Upon the request of the administration of a State department or institution, the Director of the Budget may, when in the Director's opinion it is in the best interest of the State to do so, increase the cost of a capital improvement project. Provided, however, that if the Director of the Budget increases the cost of a project, the Director shall report that action to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations at its next meeting. The increase may be funded from gifts, federal or private grants, special fund receipts, excess patient receipts above those budgeted at University of North Carolina Hospitals at Chapel Hill, or direct capital improvement appropriations to that department or institution.

Requested by: Senators Daniel, Plyler, Kaplan, Representatives Nesbitt, Diamont
NEW PROJECT AUTHORIZATION

Sec. 120. Upon the request of the administration of any State department or institution, the Governor may authorize the construction of a capital improvement project not specifically authorized by the General Assembly if such project is to be funded by gifts, federal or private grants, special fund receipts, excess patient receipts above those budgeted at University of North Carolina Hospitals at Chapel Hill, or self-liquidating indebtedness. Provided, however, that if the Director of the Budget authorizes the construction of such a capital improvement project, the Director shall report that action to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations at its next meeting.

Requested by: Senators Daniel, Plyler, Kaplan, Representatives Nesbitt, Diamont
ADVANCE PLANNING OF CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS

Sec. 121. Funds which become available by gifts, excess patient receipts above those budgeted at University of North Carolina Hospitals at Chapel Hill, federal or private grants, receipts becoming a part of special funds by act of the General Assembly or any other funds available to a State department or institution may be utilized for advance planning through the working drawing phase of capital improvement projects, upon approval of the Director of the Budget. The Director of the Budget may make allocations from the Advance Planning Fund for advance planning through the working drawing phase of capital improvement projects, except that this revolving fund may not be utilized by the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina or the State Board of Community Colleges.

Requested by: Senators Daniel, Plyler, Kaplan, Representatives Nesbitt, Diamont
APPROPRIATIONS LIMITS/REVERSION OR LAPSE

Sec. 122. Except as permitted in previous sections of this act, the appropriations for capital improvements made by the 1993 General Assembly may be expended only for specific projects set out by the 1993 General Assembly and for no other purpose. Construction of all capital improvement projects enumerated by the 1993 General Assembly shall be commenced, or self-liquidating indebtedness with respect to them shall be incurred, within 12 months following the first day of the fiscal year in which the funds are available. If construction contracts on those projects have not been awarded or self-liquidating indebtedness has not been incurred within that period, the direct appropriation for those projects shall revert to the original source, and the self-liquidating appropriation shall lapse; except that direct appropriations may be placed in a reserve fund as authorized in this act. This deadline with respect to both direct and self-liquidating appropriations may be extended with the approval of the Director of the Budget up to an additional 12 months if circumstances and conditions warrant such extension.

Requested by: Senators Daniel, Plyler, Kaplan, Representatives Nesbitt, Diamont
1993-94 APPROPRIATIONS LIMITATIONS AND DIRECTIONS APPLY

ADDENDUM

ADJOURNMENT

It will be noted that a number of bills and resolutions passed second reading and then were read a third time on the same day.

Rule 50 states:

> No bill on its third reading shall be acted upon out of the regular order in which it stands on the calendar, and no bill shall be acted upon on its third reading the same day on which it passed its second reading, unless so ordered by two-thirds of the membership of the Senate present and voting.

In order to comply with this Rule, no bill which has passed its second reading is read a third time except:

(1) when a member moves that the Rule be suspended, and this motion prevails by at least a two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate present and voting, or

(2) when the Chair determines that there is no objection from any member present, which constitutes unanimous consent that Rule 50 be suspended.

In these cases, the bill is read a third time and remains before the Senate for further consideration.

It will be noted the phrase "without objection" appears throughout the Senate Journal. Upon a motion offered, this reflects a determination by the Chair there is no objection from a member present, which constitutes unanimous consent, for the order of the Chair.

— — — — — — —

It will be noted that when a bill passes its second reading and remains on the Calendar for further consideration, unless indicated otherwise, the measure is placed on the Calendar for the next legislative day in its regular order of business.

— — — — — — —

It will be noted that Rule 20(2) of the House of Representatives requires that "all measures affecting a fee imposed by the State or any subdivision thereof" are classified roll-call measures for the purpose of spreading the ayes and noes on the Journal. Though the Senate Rules do not require, the Rule of the House of Representatives is honored and the measures are considered as roll-call measures, unless ruled otherwise by the presiding officer.

— — — — — — —

It will be noted that numerical figures appear within parentheses throughout the Senate Journal. These figures represent the affirmative and negative votes cast and recorded electronically, pursuant to Senate Rule 25. Copies of the voting print-out are on file in the Legislative Library.

COMMUNITY COLLEGES	1993-94	1994-95
RECOMMENDED CONTINUATION:	$393,630,457	$393,646,998

Continuation Budget Changes:

1. State Board Reserve -
   Reduce the State Board of Community College's reserve fund for innovative and pilot projects by 10%. ($100,000) ($100,000)
2. Department of Community Colleges Vacant Positions -
   Eliminates 3 vacant positions in the Department. This represents one-half of the vacancies.

S.B. 27 (Proposed Committee Substitute 4630 and 4632)

COMMUNITY COLLEGES (Continued)	1993-94	1994-95
The positions eliminated were:
- Education Consultant II
- Office Assistant III
- Extension Educ. Training Specialist IV	(106,876)	(106,876)
3. Community Services Block Grant - This reduces the Block Grant by one-half. The programs offered by this fund are hobby and leisure courses, not related to job training skills. About 40% of those enrolled are senior citizens. They take these courses free of charge. Others are charged a fee that varies by college. The other program offered by this fund is the Visiting Artist program. Approximately $500,000 was spent for that purpose during the 1991-92 fiscal year.	(1,952,298)	(1,952,298)
4. Other Departmental Savings -
(a) Data processing savings	(40,000)	(40,000)
(b) Inventory reduction	(400)	(400)
5. Administrative Cuts - Reduce the formula allotment for senior administrators and administrators of programs from a ratio per 110 FTE to one based on every 125 FTE. (It would cut less than 30 equivalent positions statewide.)	($1,563,777)	($1,563,777)
6. Prison Education Profit Cuts - Community Colleges receive funds for teaching prisoners if they are on the rolls at the 20% point of the class. Many of them are transferred to other prisons after the start of classes, but the colleges still receive FTE for them for the entire course. If they were paid only for the actual hours taught, there would be substantial savings every year.
30% reduction: $3,454,310
Savings: (1,000,000)
Transfer to funding formula: $2,454,310	(1,000,000)	(1,000,000)
TRANSFER:
1. Transfer Sheltered Workshop Funds from Community Colleges to the Department of Human Resources	(512,925)	(512,925)
- Reduction in Community Colleges Budget: ($512,925)
- Increase in Department of Human Resources Budget: ($512,925)

COMMUNITY COLLEGES	1993-94	1994-95
RECOMMENDED CONTINUATION	$393,630,457	$393,646,998
Continuation Budget Changes:
1. State Board Reserve - Reduce the State Board of Community College's reserve fund for innovative and pilot projects by 10%.	(100,000)	(100,000)
2. Department of Community Colleges Vacant Positions - Eliminates 3 vacant positions in the Department. This represents one-half of the vacancies. The positions eliminated were: - Education Consultant II - Office Assistant III - Extension Educ. Training Specialist IV	(106,876)	(106,876)
3. Community Services Block Grant - This reduces the Block Grant by one-half. The programs offered by this fund are hobby and leisure courses, not related to job training skills. About 40% of those enrolled are senior citizens. They take these courses free of charge. Others are charged a fee that varies by college. The other program offered by this fund is the Visiting Artist program. Approximately $500,000 was spent for that purpose during the 1991-92 fiscal year.	(1,952,298)	(1,952,298)
4. Other Departmental Savings -
(a) Data processing savings	(40,000)	(40,000)
(b) Inventory reduction	(400)	(400)
5. Administrative Cuts - Reduce the formula allotment for senior administrators and administrators of programs from a ratio per 110 FTE to one based on every 125 FTE. (It would cut less than 30 equivalent positions statewide.)	($1,563,777)	($1,563,777)
6. Prison Education Profit Cuts - Community Colleges receive funds for teaching prisoners if they are on the rolls at the 20% point of the class. Many of them are transferred to other prisons after the start of classes, but the colleges still receive FTE for them for the entire course. If they were paid only for the actual hours taught, there would be substantial savings every year.	(1,000,000)	(1,000,000)

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

FIRST SESSION 1993

Adopted February 11, 1993 (See page 66)

S.R. 102, A SENATE SIMPLE RESOLUTION TO ESTABLISH THE PROCEDURE FOR NOMINATING AND ELECTING MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Be it resolved by the Senate:

Section 1. The following procedures for nominating and electing members of the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina are adopted:

I. COMMITTEE RESPONSIBILITIES.

1. It is the duty of the Senate Committee on Education/Higher Education (hereinafter referred to as the "Senate Committee") to choose nominees for each opening in each category of seats on the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina to which the Senate is to elect members.

2. The Senate Committee shall receive suggestions of proposed candidates for nomination for election to the University Board of Governors through February 12, 1993. A Senator may propose as a candidate for nomination as many persons in a category as there are positions to fill in a category. In 1993 the total number of positions is nine. In order for a person to have standing to be considered as a candidate for nomination by the Senate Committee, that person must be formally proposed as a candidate for nomination by a member of the Senate. Only a written nomination on a form provided by the Chair of the Senate Committee for that purpose and received in the office of the Chair of the Senate Committee by 5:00 p.m. on February 12, 1993, shall constitute formal proposal of a candidate. An individual cannot be a candidate for nomination or be nominated in more than one category.

3. A Senator may propose candidates for nomination only for the categories available for election by the Senate. In the 1993 Session, the Senate will elect:

(a) Two women for four-year terms;
(b) Two members of a minority race for four-year terms;
(c) Four at-large members for four-year terms; and
(d) Due to a vacancy, one member of the political party to which the largest minority of members of the General Assembly belong for the remainder of the unexpired term.

4. On or after February 15, 1993, the Senate Committee shall list all proposed candidates for nomination by category. The Senate Committee shall screen the proposed candidates for nomination as to their qualifications and background and may interview each one to make sure that suitable persons are nominated for each category. The Committee shall ascertain that each candidate for nomination is willing and able to serve and has no statutory disability. On completion of the screening process, the Senate Committee shall vote on each candidate proposed for nomination. If a sufficient number of nominees who are legally qualified are submitted in a category then the slate of candidates shall list at least twice the number of candidates for the total seats open in a category. A candidate for nomination that receives the vote of a majority of those members of the Senate Committee present and voting shall become a nominee on the Senate ballot.

5. The Chair of the Senate Committee shall ascertain whether the nominees for election by the Senate would serve if elected. Any nominee may withdraw without the approval of the sponsor.

6. Senate Committee nominees shall be placed before and recommended to the Senate for election.

II. ELECTIONS IN THE SENATE.

1. A ballot shall be prepared under the supervision of the Chair of the Senate Committee for the use of the Senate.

2. The ballot shall list only the names of those nominees proposed by the Senate Committee who have consented to run and for whom the Senate is entitled to vote. Their names shall be arranged (a) by category and (b) within each category, alphabetically by surname.

3. The Senate shall hold its election no later than the beginning of the daily session on February 25, 1993. Before the voting begins, the Chair of the Senate Committee shall explain the voting rules, which are:

(a) No nomination shall be received from the floor.

(b) In order to be chosen, a nominee must receive the votes of a majority of all members present and voting in the nominee's category.

(c) Each member present and voting shall vote for as many nominees as there are positions to be filled in each category, and any ballot not so marked shall be deemed void as to that category.

(d) When a member for a category containing a single position is to be chosen and no nominee receives a majority of the votes cast for all the nominees in that category, a runoff shall be conducted between the persons receiving the two highest numbers of votes cast.

(e) When fewer than two nominees in each of the woman or minority race categories, or fewer than four nominees in the at-large category, receive the votes of a majority of all members present and voting for positions in those categories, a runoff to fill the open position or positions shall be conducted among the nominees who were not elected but who received the highest number of votes cast in each category, and the number of nominees eligible to be voted on in the runoff shall be twice the number of positions to be filled.

(f) If there is a tie for the last position between two nominees who are eligible for the next runoff, both nominees shall be included in the next runoff balloting, even though there would be more than two nominees per available position, unless the deciding vote is cast in accordance with the North Carolina Constitution, Article 2, Section 13.

(g) When more than two nominees in each of the woman or minority race categories, or more than four nominees in the at-large category, receive the votes of a majority of all members present and voting for positions in those categories, then the two nominees receiving the highest number of votes in the category shall be deemed to have been chosen.

4. The Senators shall proceed to mark their ballots for the following:

(a) Two persons in the woman category for four-year terms;

(b) Two persons in the minority race party category for four-year terms;

(c) Four persons in the at-large category for four-year terms; and

(d) One person in the minority party category for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Every ballot shall be signed by the Senator casting it, and no unsigned ballots shall be counted.

5. The Chair of the Senate Committee shall be responsible for canvassing the vote and declaring the results. All ballots shall be retained by the Principal Clerk as part of the permanent records of the Senate and shall be open for immediate public inspection.

6. When the Chair of the Senate Committee has determined that the Senate has chosen two members from the woman category, two members from the minority race category, and four members from the at-large category to the Board of Governors for terms of four years, and, one member from the minority party category to the Board of Governors for the remainder of the unexpired term, the President of the Senate shall declare those nine persons to have been elected.

7. The results of the election in the Senate shall then be sent by Special Messenger to the House of Representatives.

III. NOTIFICATION OF ELECTION RESULTS.

When the election process is complete, the Chair of the Senate Committee shall notify the Secretary of the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina of the names of the persons elected by the Senate and the category and term for which each person was elected.

Sec. 2. This resolution is effective upon adoption.

S.R. 823 (COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE), A SENATE SIMPLE RESOLUTION ADOPTING THE PERMANENT RULES OF THE SENATE FOR THE REGULAR SESSIONS OF THE 1993 GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Adopted May 13, 1993 (See page 510)

S.R. 951, A SENATE SIMPLE RESOLUTION EXPRESSING THE INTENT OF THE SENATE TO ENHANCE FURTHER THE LONG-TERM FISCAL STABILITY OF THE STATE AND TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE FAVORABLE INTEREST RATE CLIMATE BY AUTHORIZING STATE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS.

Whereas,

(1) During the last 60 years North Carolina has established a solid reputation among the 50 states for resolving budget crises and maintaining its fiscal integrity with long-term solutions;

(2) The State's fiscal reputation was first established during the 1920s and 1930s when the State was confronted with a decade of falling farm prices followed by the Great Depression. The drop in farm crop prices, coupled with the demand for better schools, roads, and other services caused the property tax burden, as a percent of farm income, to increase by 344%. In addition to raising tax rates, local units increased their debt by over 300%. The result was that North Carolina's State and local debt burden exceeded all states except New York and was 4 1/2 times the United States average. When the Depression hit, the burden of excessive debt led to a severe fiscal crisis, causing 62 counties, 152 cities and towns, and approximately 200 special districts in the State to default on their bonds by 1933;

(3) During the 1920s and 1930s the General Assembly responded to the fiscal crisis with bold reforms, including:

a. State takeover of the funding responsibility for public schools, highways, and prisons;

b. The establishment of a modern State and local tax structure;

c. The creation of the Local Government Commission to oversee local financial practices and to issue bonds for local units;

(4) The reforms enacted during the fiscal revolution of the 1930s have served the State well as automatic revenue growth has provided budget resources to meet the needs of a growing State without requiring the periodic tax adjustments seen in other states;

(5) Since the enactment of the fiscal reforms, the State has weathered numerous severe recessions through the use of conservative budget mechanisms such as:

a. Conservative revenue estimates;

b. Budgeting salaries and related benefits at 100%, thereby ensuring that 2-3% of the operating budget will be unspent due to employee turnover;

c. Spending a portion of its budget availability on capital improvements and other one-time items which can be deferred or deleted in the event of a revenue shortfall or other emergency;

(6) During the latter half of the 1980s the State's reputation began to weaken, culminating in the most severe fiscal crisis since the 1930s. One factor leading to the decline was the adoption in 1985 of a new multiyear education improvement initiative, the Basic Education Program, without a long-term funding plan that included budget cuts and/or revenue enhancements. This led to use of the State's credit balance, tax accelerations, and other one-time financing sources to fund the expansion budget. Another factor was the lack of a permanent rainy-day fund. Finally, the trigger event leading to the severe 1990-91 recession, the Mideast Crisis, occurred after the budget had been adopted;

(7) Balancing the budget required the use of extraordinary measures, including:

a. Holding $67 million of June 1991 income tax refunds until July;

b. Delaying the payment of bills;
c. Borrowing a total of $250 million from the Employment Security Fund, at an interest cost to the General Fund of $21.4 million, and advancing the $170 million transfer from the Highway Trust Fund at the beginning of the fiscal year;
d. Deleting $270 million of capital improvement projects;
e. Cutting local tax aid monies by $32 million;
f. Moving the pay date for teachers, State and university employees, and community college employees to provide $328 million in today's costs;

(8) During the 1991 legislative session the General Assembly faced a $1.2 billion gap between continuation budget requirements and available revenues. Unlike legislatures in many other states, the North Carolina General Assembly fixed the problem on a permanent basis. The final package included approximately $600 million of budget cuts and about the same amount of new revenues. In addition the package included a comprehensive budget reform plan, including:
a. A permanent rainy-day fund;
b. Consensus revenue estimates;
c. A long-term fiscal note requirement of five years on the operating budget and 20 years on new State buildings;
d. A prohibition against using one-time monies to fund recurring items;
e. A limitation on State spending growth;
f. The requirement that a permanent funding mechanism be established for financing repairs, renovation, and maintenance of State buildings;
g. The creation of a special commission to identify trends that will affect the State fiscal outlook;

(9) The actions of the 1991 General Assembly have been very successful in putting the State's finances on firmer footing and have reestablished North Carolina as a leader in its ability to address fiscal problems. North Carolina is one of only four states maintaining a Triple A credit rating with all three major bond rating agencies and one of the few states on the eastern seaboard with revenue estimates on target in 1991-92;

(10) The job of restoring North Carolina's fiscal integrity is not finished. The 1991 budget package included language, expressed currently in the Executive Budget Act (G.S. 143-15.3(b)), that the pay date for teachers, State employees, university employees, and community college employees be restored as soon as funds are available. Restoration of the pay date would:
a. Eliminate a year-end liability on the State's financial statements, thereby bringing us into closer conformity with Generally Accepted Accounting Practices (GAAP) and continuing to ensure a balanced budget as required by the North Carolina Constitution;
b. Restore a budget mechanism that could be used to maintain a balanced budget during an unanticipated budget shortfall in the future;
c. Eliminate the need for interfund borrowing to meet cash-flow needs;
d. Prevent the use of 'one-time' monies for new spending programs;

(11) The North Carolina General Assembly is aware that, clearly, there are vital needs of the citizens of the State that should be addressed as part of a long-term fiscal plan that:
a. Completes the action begun in 1991 to restore fiscal integrity;
b. Identifies high priority needs, determines the extent to which existing public and/or private resources can meet those needs, develops a structured plan to meet those needs (including the furnishing of comprehensive performance and budget data), and incorporates program and fiscal accountability measures;

c. Identifies permanent funding sources to finance the State's portion of any new or expanded programs to meet those needs;
d. Provides for the current high degree of uncertainty due to potential federal budget and health care reform actions, the pending $140 million federal retiree lawsuit on retroactive refunds, and the estimated $2 billion impact on the State's economy from a proposed $2.00 per pack increase in the federal tobacco tax;
e. Keeps the growth in the overall size of the General Fund operating budget in line with citizens' income;
f. Incorporates the performance budget recommendations of the Government Performance Audit Committee;

(12) State and local bond interest rates are the lowest in 15 years;
(13) The prudence displayed by the General Assembly in using pay-as-you-go financing for capital projects during the last decade provides an opportunity for the State to take advantage of very favorable interest rates to finance with bond financing the backlog of capital and infrastructure needs of a fast-growing State;
(14) The State's General Fund debt service burden has declined 50% from 2.2% of General Fund revenue in 1982-83 to 1.1% for 1993-94. In addition, the General Fund and Highway Fund annual debt service requirements will decline $90 million by the year 2000;
(15) In recent years, the authorization of a reasonable amount of State bonds has been recommended by:
a. The Economic Futures Commission;
b. The Government Performance Audit Committee (GPAC); and
c. The State Treasurer.
In addition, the comments of the bond rating agencies in affirming the State's Triple A credit rating indicate that the rating agencies expect the State to take advantage of its declining debt burden and to use bond financing to meet its capital needs;
(16) The Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina recently reported $703 million of capital project needs in its 1993-95 capital budget request;
(17) The State Board of Community Colleges has recently requested $311 million for buildings and $105 million for equipment;
(18) The most recent survey of 10-year public school facility needs of local school systems indicates $5.6 billion of school building needs;
(19) The projected 20-year local water facility needs total $1.9 billion and wastewater facility needs total $3.9 billion;
(20) The projected five-year needs for solid waste/landfill facilities are conservatively estimated at $250 million;
(21) The acceleration of construction activity under State bond financing would provide a timely stimulus to the State's weak economic recovery;
(22) The 1977 General Assembly, at the request of the Governor, authorized $530 million of State general obligation bonds. This amount was equivalent to 2.4% of the $22.1 billion of wage and salary income of North Carolina residents. The same percentage applied to the estimated 1993 wage and salary base of $77.4 billion would equal $1.8 billion of bond capacity;
(23) Creating a maintenance reserve is essential in assuring the continued availability of funds for the repair and renovation of State buildings and has been recommended by the Real Property Study Commission and the Government Performance Audit Committee;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate:

Section 1. It is the intent of the Senate to appropriate from the General Fund to the Salary Reserve for State and University Employees the sum of one hundred ninety million six hundred thousand dollars ($190,600,000) for the 1993-94 fiscal year to pay university and State employees paid from the General Fund on June 30, 1994, instead of on July 1, 1994, for work done during June of 1994.

Sec. 2. It is the intent of the Senate to appropriate from the General Fund to the Salary Reserve for Community College Employees the sum of twenty-four million four hundred thousand dollars ($24,400,000) for the 1993-94 fiscal year to pay community college employees paid from the General Fund on June 30, 1994, instead of on July 1, 1994, for work done during June of 1994.

Sec. 3. It is the intent of the Senate to appropriate from the General Fund to the Salary Reserve for Teachers the sum of one hundred twelve million eight hundred thousand dollars ($112,800,000) for the 1993-94 fiscal year to pay public school teachers paid from the General Fund on June 30, 1994, instead of on July 1, 1994, for work done during June of 1994.

Sec. 4. It is the intent of the Senate to earmark the lesser of (i) one-fourth of any credit balance remaining in the General Fund and (ii) one and one-half percent (1.5%) of the current replacement value of all State buildings supported from the General Fund, at the end of each fiscal year to a Repairs and Renovations Reserve Account to be used only for repairs and renovations of State buildings supported from the General Fund.

Sec. 5. It is the intent of the Senate to provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds of the State, to be known as "North Carolina Public Facilities and Infrastructure Bonds". It is the intent of the Senate that the proceeds of these bonds shall be used to partially fund pressing capital needs of the State and of local governments.

Sec. 6. It is the intent of the Senate that the issuance of North Carolina Public Facilities and Infrastructure Bonds would be conditioned upon the favorable vote of a majority of the qualified voters of the State who vote on the questions in an election to be held in November 1993.

Sec. 7. This resolution is effective upon adoption.

Adopted May 11, 1993 (See page 449)

S.R. 1010 (COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE), A SENATE SIMPLE RESOLUTION AMENDING THE PERMANENT RULES OF THE SENATE FOR THE REGULAR SESSIONS OF THE 1993 GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA RELATING TO RECALL OF BILL FROM COMMITTEE AND TO ADMISSION TO THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE.

Offered June 9, 1993 (See page 612)

S.R. 1229, A SENATE SIMPLE RESOLUTION PETITIONING THE DEFENSE BASE CLOSURE AND REALIGNMENT COMMISSION TO RETAIN THE CHERRY POINT NAVAL AVIATION DEPOT.

Whereas, the Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot received the highest score on the military value matrix of the Department of Defense; and

Whereas, the Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot is the only two-time winner of the Federal Quality Institute's Quality Improvement Prototype Award; and

Whereas, the Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot has the greatest accumulation of operating revenue of any of the Naval Aviation Depots in the nation; and

Whereas, the Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot employs 3,200 civilians in Eastern North Carolina and is the largest single employer in Eastern North Carolina; and

Whereas, the loss of this many jobs in Eastern North Carolina would represent a larger percentage job loss than in at least four of the other Naval Aviation Depot locations;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate:

Section 1. The North Carolina Senate petitions the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission to retain the Cherry Point Naval Aviation Depot, the most cost-efficient and productive Naval Aviation Depot in the Department of Defense.

Sec. 2. The Principal Clerk shall transmit a certified copy of this resolution to the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission.

Sec. 3. This resolution is effective upon adoption.

Adopted June 17, 1993 (See page 654)

GOVERNOR JAMES B. HUNT, JR.
STATE-OF-THE-STATE
February 15, 1993

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro-Tem, The Council of State, Justices, Judges, Members of the Cabinet, my fellow North Carolinians and, especially, members of the General Assembly.

"You invited me here to speak to you tonight. But I come here to make sure you know that I am ready to listen to you during this Session.

"The General Assembly's invitation to the Governor for this address symbolizes the relationship that should exist between two equal branches of government. A relationship built not on confrontation, but on cooperation.

"It is in this spirit of cooperation that I intend to work with you in this Session and in future Sessions.

"It is not my intention to do all the talking. It is my intention to do more listening.

"It is not my intention to impose my ideas. It is my intention to respect your ideas.

"It is not my intention to twist arms. It is my intention to join hands.

"I would be presumptuous if I pretended to have all the answers. For those of you who served before proved what this Legislature can do.

"When you convened two years ago, North Carolina faced one of the most serious fiscal crises of any State in the nation. Today, North Carolina has done more to solve its budget problems and protect its fiscal integrity than any State in the nation, and you deserve great credit for this achievement!

"You sustained the difficult process of education reform. You moved the Basic Education Program forward despite hard times. You put our transportation program on a sound long-term course. You refused to sacrifice environmental protection for short-term economic gain. You started putting children first because you knew it was the right thing to do and because you had the courage and vision to do it!

"And you did all this in a time when the Governor and the General Assembly were too often at odds. Just think what we can do for North Carolina if we work together.

"As Speaker Blue said: 'Now that we have laid the foundation, it is time to build the house.'

"In the one hundred days since the election, reporters have asked me if the people have given me a mandate. My answer is no. The people have given us a chance.

"In the campaign, all of us listened to the people of North Carolina. We would not be here if we had not listened.

"The people want us—the Governor and the General Assembly—to work together and bring real progress to our State.

"The people want constructive action, not conflict. They want change, not business as usual. They want us to put their future first and our politics second.

"They are right. They deserve no less. And my commitment—to them and to you—is that action and change are what they will get!

"In these one hundred days, I have met with many of you. We talked about our hopes for North Carolina and for this Session, and we listened to each other.

"We share many of the same goals. On the opening day of the Session, we heard Lieutenant Governor Wicker, Speaker Blue, and Senator Basnight speak eloquently and passionately about the needs of our children and all our people.

"But talking to each other is not an end in itself. As Senator Basnight said: 'It is time to stop speaking and start acting.'

"The measure of our success this year will not be what happens to you and me—who's up, who's down—who's in, who's out—who's hot, who's not.

"The measure of our success will not be the legislation we pass. It will be the lives we touch.

"This must be our greater goal: concerted action for the people of North Carolina. They gave us this chance. Their future comes first, and this year—together—we can begin to shape that future.

"With our action or inaction, we will choose the kind of future North Carolina will have.

"The choice is stark.

"We could choose a future of low-skill, low-wage jobs; educational underachievement; and a growing gap between the prosperous and the poor North Carolina.

"Or we could choose a future in which every child comes to school healthy and ready to learn; every youngster graduates from high school; every graduate gets the training and higher education required for a good job and every family can provide a better future for their children.

"Which future will we choose? That depends on how we answer many issues in this legislative Session. We will answer it by:

"How we respond to the crime crisis in our State;

"How we provide access to good health, especially for every child;

"How we all respond to the challenge set out by the Government Performance Audit to make government more effective and efficient;

"How we treat our good State employees and whether we involve them in making government work better to serve our citizens;

"How we fulfill our responsibilities to our children as stewards of the environment.

"But tonight I will focus on three areas of action. For these are the most critical to our future in North Carolina. They are jobs, education, and children.

"In the last month, we have seen economic changes take jobs from thousands of North Carolinians. To all of them and to all working people in this State, we must pledge to be more aggressive and more creative in building our economic future.

"We want North Carolina to be a place where business wants to do business. We want business leaders and economic leaders all over the nation and, indeed, the world to know about and be talking about what we are doing in North Carolina to take action to see that our economic development provides more jobs for more people, and I believe we can do that.

"Our economic development approach will include:

"A new charge to the Department of Commerce, led by Dave Phillips, and the Economic Development Board, led by Bob Jordan, to develop a long-range, highly competitive strategy;

"A Workforce Preparedness Council, led by Sandy Babb, to give new leadership and new direction to our skill training efforts;

"An Entrepreneurial Development Board, led by Bob Luddy, to multiply our number of startup companies and emerging businesses;

"A Small Business Development Council led by Lieutenant Governor Dennis Wicker, to assist small businesses, which are the backbone of our economy.

"This is our economic development team. We expect them to think creatively and act boldly, and we give them this charge: create more jobs and more good jobs for North Carolinians. That's what we expect them to do.

"North Carolinians will get the best jobs if—and only if—we have the education and the skills that the jobs of the Twenty-first Century will require.

"So we must make sure every child starts school ready to learn. Then we must make sure that every student graduates. Then make sure that every graduate has mastered what they must know and be able to do to work in the modern economy. Then make sure that every graduate has a chance to go to a community college or a four-year college or university.

"Then—and only then—will North Carolina be able to compete in the Twenty-first Century.

"The biennial budget that I propose will have very limited new resources, as you know. So we must make State government more efficient and more effective. This budget commits us to achieving efficiencies of at least $100 million each year. If we carry through on the Performance Audit recommendations, if we involve State employees in making changes and if we work together, we can make State government work better and we don't have to raise any taxes to do it.

"Then we must apply our limited dollars to where they will yield the greatest returns. I propose:

"$105 million for a greater commitment to our university system, because this system must be excellent if we want North Carolina to excel!

"$113 million for a greater commitment to a skilled workforce preparedness and to our community college system. We must make our workforce competitive with any in the world! And, folks, we can do it and we can do it in this Session.

"$60 million for a greater commitment to the Basic Education Program, with a special emphasis on low-wealth and small school systems in this State!

"And $200 million for a greater commitment to teachers and educators in our public schools, so they can do the job they know how to do for our children and our future!

"We ask a lot of our schools, but we have not made clear what we expect of them. We should change that during these next four years.

"Educators are willing to be held accountable if they are given a clear mission and the resources they need to achieve their mission. The key to great schools is great teachers, and we have great teachers in North Carolina. It is time to give them the clear mission, the decision-making authority and the tools they need to do their job!

"We must set higher standards and instill greater accountability. So our budget proposes an Education Standards and Accountability Commission that will involve educators, parents and business people in setting high standards.

"These standards must define what our graduates should know and be able to do to compete in the Twenty-first Century economy. The standards must be high, they must be specific, and they must be measurable. Then we will be able to hold our schools accountable for results!

"We know the work teachers do in the classroom too often is overwhelmed by the problems children bring to the classroom. So we must start earlier to prepare our children for school and for life.

"We can give every child a better start, and we can do it by making these investments, which I recommend to you:

"$5 million to enact the Baby Bill, strengthen the child-staff ratios for child-care centers and demonstrate that we in North Carolina are committed to doing the most of any State in America for the least among us.

"$16 million to guarantee that every child receives immunizations against disease. President Clinton has made a commitment to do this for many children. I applaud him for that, but we can do it for every child. If we can afford to pave every road in North Carolina that carries one hundred automobiles a day, we can afford to vaccinate every child in this State.

"$3 million to expand financial help for the working poor who too often cannot afford quality child care.

"$8 million to provide greater child-care tax credits for middle-income families.

"And let's begin this year the most ambitious partnership for children of any State in America.

"Our budget proposes $60 million to establish this ambitions new public-private initiative. Leading it will be something we call the North Carolina Partnership for Children. This Partnership for Children will bring together parents, churches, the nonprofit sector, business and government to develop statewide goals and a strategic vision for our early-childhood initiatives.

"It will challenge people in local communities to think creatively and come up with innovative ways of providing health care, child care and other essential services to children. Local people—whether in Gates County or Mecklenburg County—can best decide what works in their communities.

"It will chart our course for the next four years and for the next generation. It will make North Carolina a State where children come first. It will lay a foundation that will give our children the best start, the highest hopes and the best chance for success of children in any state in America, and we can do it in North Carolina.

"These are ambitious goals. But we can be satisfied with nothing less. We are building for the next generation.

"We are building the house of which Dan Blue spoke. It is the house that our children and our grandchildren will inhabit.

"Regardless of what we do this year, as long as we fail one child in North Carolina, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child cannot get a decent meal, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child cannot see a doctor, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child contracts a disease that could have been prevented, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child grows up without love and learning, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child's growth and health and enjoyment of life are threatened by pollution, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child's parents are unable to get a good job and make a decent living, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child's teacher is held back in any way from doing the job of teaching, we have not done our job.

"As long as one child cannot get a public education that paves the way for success in life, we have not done our job.

"As long as we fail one child in North Carolina, we have not done our job.

"I am realistic enough to know that our job will not be finished this Session—or in the next four years.

"But I am optimistic enough to believe that all of us in this great Chamber tonight—and all of us in this great State—will not rest until we have built this house for every child in North Carolina.

"A house of healthy starts. A house of education. A house where the air is clean and the water is fresh and the land is green. A house where we are safe. A house where our children can grow and work and earn and provide a better future for their families.

"This is our great challenge. This is our chance. This is our time. Let us begin now to build this house—for our children, for their children and for the future of North Carolina.

"Thank you. I look forward to working with you."

REMARKS OF ALBERT GORE, JR.
VICE PRESIDENT
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
Before the North Carolina Legislature
Friday, February 19, 1993
Raleigh, North Carolina

"Thank you. Thank you, very much. Thank you, ladies and gentlemen. Thank you so much for this wonderful, warm welcome. It is a great pleasure to be here in North Carolina, and I appreciate the honor of being able to address this Joint Session. Lieutenant Governor Dennis Wicker, thank you for your introduction and for your leadership, Governor and Mrs. Jim Hunt, about whom I'll say a little more in a moment, thank you so much for your courtesy.

"To my friend, the Speaker of the House, Dan Blue, thank you for your friendship and leadership, and President Pro Tem, Marc Basnight, may I say the same. Thank you so much.

"And to all of the members of the leadership of the House and Senate, and to all of the members of the North Carolina Legislature, thank you for your courtesy.

"To the members of the United States House of Representatives delegation from North Carolina who are present for this Session, I appreciate your attendance here—Congressman Tim Valentine, Congressman David Price, Congresswoman Eva Clayton, and Congressman Mel Watt—you have in these four individuals and other members of your delegation, outstanding representation in Washington. I know you are very proud of the contributions they make to our nation's leadership. And may I compliment them very sincerely for the way in which they have consulted very closely with President Bill Clinton during the period of time when President Clinton was confronting the nation's economic crisis and putting together the program about which I will speak in a moment. They have been invaluable allies in providing advice to the President and in enabling the President to see the importance of those elements of this plan that affect North Carolina.

"There are a number of others here who are present that I should acknowledge individually, but forgive me for not doing so because they are too numerous to mention. But since this is my first trip to North Carolina since the Convention, I was flooded with memories of the Inauguration when I saw Jeanette Hyde and Tom and Jill Hendrickson and others, and I was recalling when Tipper and I were dancing at the Inaugural Balls, and Jeanette and Wallace were there. The next day, I couldn't quite understand why everywhere I went people who had watched the events on television would come up and say, 'You know, Tipper is a really good dancer.' And I waited for the rest of the compliment, and waited, and somehow no one thought to add, 'You are, too.' Well, even that didn't prepare me for the scene on Jay Leno's program—I don't know if any of you saw it—I hope you didn't. They showed a videotape of Tipper and me dancing Inauguration night; you could see Wallace and Jeanette off on the side there, and then he focused in just on me dancing and then he brought five men at random from the audience to have a contest to see if anyone would dance worse than our new Vice President. That's all right. I can take it. That's all right. I remember when they gave advice before the Inauguration on how to watch the Inauguration, and one of the comedians said, 'If you use a strobe light, it looks like Al Gore is moving.' (Laughter and applause) Another one said, 'When he gets his annual checkup, they send him to the U. S. Forest Service.' And you know the old one about 'How can you tell Al Gore from a room full of Secret Service agents? He's the stiff one.' The Secret Service agents liked that one, I'll tell you. (Laughter)

"In any event, another reason why it is such a great pleasure—oh, incidentally, I mentioned the members of the delegation from North Carolina. I am going from here to Georgia, and I want to acknowledge Congressman Buddy Darden who flew down with Eva Clayton and me on the plane, and we're glad to have you as a neighbor.

"I started to say that yet another reason why I'm so proud to be able to stand in this Chamber and address this Joint Session is that you have already faced the same kind of challenge that our nation is now facing. President Bill Clinton and I are keenly aware of the courage and vision shown by members of the North Carolina House and Senate. When you were confronted with an unprecedented budget deficit, slow growth, and high unemployment, and many who urged you to do nothing. But, instead, you looked at the future of this State, and you decided that you would not shirk your responsibilities and that you would instead summon the courage to both cut spending and raise revenues with a one-to-one formula, as I recall, and put this State on the course toward a sound economic future.

"With the kinds of investments in education and job training and technology, and the Research Triangle, and protection for the environment, and investments in the skills our people need to lay the groundwork for the progress that you are now poised to enjoy. North Carolina is on average better off than the nation as a whole today, in large part because the citizens of this State have communicated to you in the Legislature the ideas that you then enacted after you summoned the courage to which I referred, and then you made the tough decisions to implement those policies.

"Well, now we face the very same challenge in the nation as a whole, and once again there are those who say 'Do nothing, continue the gridlock, stand by and just let it happen.' We are taking our cue from what you have done. And we are facing up to the problem, seizing the opportunity, laying the foundation for the progress we need in the future.

"It starts with people. And may I say that it is indeed a pleasure and honor to be with Governor Jim Hunt because the kind of leadership and vision for which North Carolina is nationally recognized when it comes to education and economic development and the sorts of investments that I referred to a moment ago are really identified with Jim Hunt. When President Clinton was Governor of Arkansas, he worked closely with Governor Hunt and I know he values Jim Hunt's friendship and support.

"And now, Governor Hunt and all of you in this Chamber are confronting the new challenges that you have made it possible for this State to confront. As legislators, you and Governor Hunt know just how tough it is to make those excruciatingly difficult choices. Choices that Washington too often has ducked and avoided. Your leadership here and your actions have made it possible for your State to really face the serious economic problems and to put in place sustained reforms to develop your economy, strengthen your schools, rebuild your roads and bridges, protect your environment, support families and children.

"And now, together, we must keep this commitment that all of us have made to the people that we serve. Because now, in the nation as a whole, we stand at a remarkable time in our history with an unprecedented national challenge. The American people are expecting a lot from us. They deserve a lot more than they have been getting from their government and it's time, in the words of President Bill Clinton, to rededicate ourselves to strengthening families, creating jobs, rewarding work, and reinventing government. We can lift America's fortunes once again. It will not be easy or simple or quick. We've been fooled before by rosy scenarios and empty optimism. But not this time.

"The President is offering this nation a bold and courageous opportunity for progressive change. Those who want to continue business as usual will be running a failed business, offering only more complacency and the status quo at the time when Americans are seeking a new direction and real leadership. It is that new direction, that leadership, that President Clinton is offering America. We cannot afford to continue the status quo. We've got to change. (Applause) You know that, you hear it every day from the people of North Carolina who you serve. You hear it from parents frustrated because they want to give their kids more and cannot. You hear it from business people who want to invest and expand, but cannot. You hear it from community leaders concerned that we're losing that sense of shared purpose that has always been our nation's strength.

"Yes, here in North Carolina, the unemployment figures are down slightly, and you are, relatively speaking, better off than many parts of this country. But even here the unemployment rate is not what it ought to be. You know that. Because you are part of a national economy, just as our nation is part of a world economy now. And no matter how bold and how courageous and how wise you are in your decisions about State policy, in order for the people of North Carolina to thrive and prosper, we must engineer in our nation an economic recovery that puts people back to work. I know that the economists like to call our current period of time a recovery.

"But the people of this nation know better. We're three million jobs short of what a normal recovery would produce at this point in the economic cycle. Family incomes are stagnant, they're not going up. The number of full-time workers living in poverty is higher today than it was before the recent recession ever began. And of course, we are borrowing one-quarter of what we need to pay our bills. Can you imagine the depth of irresponsibility that is involved in borrowing $1 billion every twenty-four hours. It is absurd! And, make no mistake about it, those who argue in behalf of continuing the gridlock and the inaction and delay and denial are in favor, really, of continuing this practice of borrowing $1 billion every day. We're gonna put a stop to it and put our nation on the course toward fiscal responsibility. (Prolonged applause)

"I met with a member of Congress yesterday who, unlike those gathered here, was not a supporter of the President's plan. Indeed, this particular member, who will remain nameless, at least for the time being, had criticized publicly the plan (one of the few) and said, 'I want more spending cuts.' Well, I listed the spending cuts in the program, and there are 150 very difficult spending cuts in this program. You know how difficult they are. Well, we're going to make them. But this member of Congress said that he wanted more spending cuts. In the privacy of our conversation, I said, 'We are anxious to hear your suggestions. I will communicate with President Clinton this afternoon when I return to the White House. Give me your suggestions; I'd like you to be specific please. Tell me exactly which additional ones you want to make.' He was speechless. He said, 'Well, we've gotta change the process.' Well, the process is making tough decisions. Where are the specifics? Let's hear them. (Applause)

"Part of the reason our nation has gotten into this mess is that for the last several years, going back twelve years, really, both political parties, and both the House, Senate, and White House in Washington have used questionable assumptions and phony numbers and smoke and mirrors, and then debated one another on the basis of which smoke and mirrors might seem more persuasive. And the national interest has been left behind. Because it's always easier when you get to that fabled location 'between a rock and a hard place' to simply assume your way out of the dilemma and pretend to the American people that you've suddenly discovered a new rosy scenario, a new set of cookbooks, a new set of phony statistics that have magically enabled you to avoid a tough decision.

"So listen carefully when those who champion gridlock and criticize President Clinton's plan speak up and say in evermore general and vague terms, they want to do something else. Listen to hear the specifics. Ask them to offer their tough choices. The fact is that skyrocketing deficits and health care costs are now killing our dreams. And the engine of our economy has stalled. We can sit stuck in the mud, or we can start working together to pull America out of the ditch and start moving America forward again.

"President Clinton is working to bring our nation together and to move us forward, and we are a nation that has, of course, met many challenges and that has summoned at times and ways we didn't expect a unique courage and spirit that speaks to our most basic values: faith in God, love of family, commitment to country, honesty, hard work, and plain old-fashioned common sense. It is time again, now, to find that courage, to renew that spirit, to remember what we value and what we've always been willing to fight to preserve.

"President Clinton is right, we can do better. We must do better! And President Clinton is offering America a new direction, a plan, first of all, to jump-start our economic growth now and keep it running strong into the future, investing in our people, their jobs, and their incomes.

"Secondly, a real commitment to honor work and strengthen our families to replace the stale rhetoric and hollow promises with real actions.

"Third, substantial, honest, and credible reductions in the federal deficit.

"And perhaps most importantly, President Clinton is offering Americans a reason to trust their government again, by putting away those smoke and mirrors about which I just spoke, and putting aside the rosy scenarios and instead, doing what you've done—making the hard choices with real spending cuts, not gimmicks, and real cuts in government, real cuts in waste and perks, and privileges, and by providing fairness, finally, where inequity had too long been accepted and sustained.

"Now, I believe that our most urgent priority must be to create jobs, and that's what the President's economic stimulus package will do; creating 500,000 jobs in the next few months and by the end of next year when the stimulus package has done all of its work; by investing in America, by putting people to work repairing our roads and bridges, the traditional support for our economy; and by putting people to work on new and different kinds of roads. I call them 'information superhighways.' In Research Triangle you know about them—highways that will carry data and knowledge, the commerce of the future.

"We'll provide incentives to encourage private investment, including a tax credit for small businesses that invest in growth and new jobs, and we'll provide a tax credit for firms that invest in research and technology that result in new jobs. We'll expand the summer jobs program to include hundreds of thousands of new summer jobs—nearly 700,000 of them this summer.

"And here, in the Research Triangle area, you understand better than many how important these investments in high technology can be in growing an economy. It's not too far from here that your universities and research centers and businesses are providing an example for the nation and the world of what technology can accomplish and what technology can promise for the future—better products, higher profits, better jobs, quality education, improved health care, a cleaner environment. Technology works. You know that. And so do we, but we have got to build a partnership between government and business and universities.

"That's why our long-term investment plan includes major new incentives to explore these technologies that mean high-wage, high-skill jobs here at home. And a stronger competitive position in world markets. President Clinton and I will be talking about these initiatives in greater detail next week when President Clinton presents the new technology plan. We share a strong commitment to maintaining American leadership and encouraging American ingenuity.

"You know, as you realized in your approach that small business is the key to job creation, so do we. Some of you might have noticed in the Wall Street Journal this morning, there was an article saying that small businesses are the most excited—very excited about the new economic plan. That's where the new jobs are created, and that's what we want to encourage. (Applause)

"Small businesses make up more than 90% of the businesses and yet less than half of the overall employment. But when you look at the new jobs that are created when a nation starts moving forward again, ninety plus percent of the new jobs are created by small businesses. And our long-term plan includes a permanent investment tax credit for small businesses and a new commitment to ensure that even small manufacturers have access to the high technology that Europeans and Japanese firms are using so effectively in world competition.

"And we're investing in education and training and defense conversion to help displaced workers get the skills they need to find good jobs. We're investing in our families and our children, expanding the earned income tax credit to make sure that no family with full-time workers still lives in poverty.

"Let me say that again. With passage of this plan, we will be able to say to the people of North Carolina that if you have children and you are working forty hours a week, you will not live in poverty. Never again, under this plan. (Prolonged applause)

"The plan also provides full funding for Head Start, to give every child eligibility. (Applause) To give every child who is eligible the benefits of a head start. It will also fully fund the Women, Infants and Children Program to guarantee that our children grow up healthy, not hungry. (Applause)

"Over four years, our plan will produce more than eight million new jobs for the American people. And over four years, our plan will provide the largest deficit reduction in history—and it's time. (Applause)

"President Clinton did face the tough choices and is making the tough decisions. He moved carefully in this plan to minimize their economic impact: to remain true to our long-term investment goals as we reduce the deficit; to direct the peace dividend; to investment, not consumption; to redirect the budget toward investment. And the result, as I mentioned, 150 specific cuts in government spending programs, the elimination of unnecessary agencies and commissions and programs, and a revenue plan that finally restores fairness to our tax code.

"And I invite your careful attention to the effect by each income group. It is fair and progressive, and our spending cuts start where they must—with the government. The 25% cut in the White House staff was difficult, I guarantee you. I had a ringside seat. The 3% cuts across the board in the government agencies and departments will be difficult, but it is only the beginning. Because we are going to continue cutting spending in every agency year after year, and we are going to reinvent government because the quality control revolution which swept American business somehow left the federal government behind. We're going to bring that revolution into government and cut spending more. (Applause)

"The President erected his cabinet to make cuts in unnecessary spending of all sorts; to park the limos, to shut the executive dining rooms, to get rid of the perks in the useless parts of the agencies. That was nine billion dollars in savings just in the categories I've described and Wednesday night he went further in calling for an across the board freeze on federal salaries, a very tough decision. We appreciate and respect all of those in the federal work force and are asking them to join with us enthusiastically in making these cuts effective; but ladies and gentlemen, we have got to see government tighten its belt. We've got to have across-the-board savings and that's why even tough measures, like an one-year freeze on all federal salaries, are justified now. Because we are committed to a government that works smarter, harder, and better for less. It's time, as the President said, for government to be as frugal as any household in America. (Applause)

"We are asking the wealthiest Americans, who can best afford to bear the burden, to pay their share. We do not begrudge their great success during the 1980's, during which they paid the least, but we are asking them to help pull their share of the load. We are not out to soak the rich, but we don't want to drown the poor and the middle class. It's time for fairness and productivity. (Applause)

"We are also asking the richest and largest corporations to do their share. They had very healthy profits, which are good for our country, but based on unfair and unreasonable loopholes, the result was often an increased burden for, again, middle income taxpayers. So we are closing the loopholes that allowed special interests, for example, to deduct the cost of their lobbying that allowed businesses to write off the cost of three-martini lunches and other accesses that we simply can't afford any more at a time of frugality. We're doing away with the subsidies that not only allowed but encouraged U.S. companies to move jobs overseas. We welcome an open world trading environment, but we don't want to use tax dollars to subsidize and encourage the shutting down of factories here and the relocation of jobs overseas. That doesn't make sense. (Applause)

"We are collecting from foreign corporations who make money in America the taxes that they owe in America, not on a discriminatory basis but on the basis of the following principle. They should pay the same taxes on the profits they make here that American companies pay on the profits that they make here. (Applause)

"What we are not doing is asking the middle class to pick up the tab and let me be clear about this one point. All of the changes in the income tax code that I have referred to will result in the following fact: 98.8% of the families in North Carolina and in America will face zero increase in their income tax rate, 98.8%.

"And we're not making new cuts in Medicare benefits to beneficiaries we are moving to control health care costs by cutting some payments to those who provide health care sometimes in a wasteful fashion but even this is a temporary step until we reform the entire health care system. And later this year that is what we are going to do. (Applause) We will have a comprehensive plan to reform America's health care system this spring.

"And let me be clear about the change we're making in social security. No one who currently does not pay a tax on social security now will be paying a tax under this plan. That means 80% of social security recipients will not be affected. We are asking older Americans with higher incomes, people who do not rely on social security as their only means of support, to pay more on a formula which guarantees that the 15% of their social security benefits that will not be subject to any taxation—this is the wealthy or higher income recipients—will allow them to get back in full all of the payments they made into social security plus the full interest that would be owed without of any of that being subject to taxation at all. Only the excess would then be included in taxable income, and only for couples that have $32,000.00 a year, at least, of additional income over and above of what they receive from social security each year.

"Now, I want to talk as well about the modest energy tax we are proposing because it represents an important way for us to not only reduce the deficit but reduce pollution levels, increase energy efficiency, and become more competitive and reduce our reliance on imported oil.

"Let me repeat the fact that the President provided. For a family earning $40,000.00 a year, these measures, when fully implemented years from now, will mean less than $17.00 a month and the effect on lowering interest rates will more than offset that. For families earning less than $30,000.00 a year, there will be virtually no tax at all because of the compensating changes we are making in the tax code such as the expansion of the earned income tax credit.

"And let me say another word about interest rates, I don't know how many have noticed but as soon as President Clinton began to send the signals after the election that we were deadly serious about reclaiming our economic future, proposing a fair energy tax and deep spending cuts, investments in our future, long term interest rates started going down not long after the election. And as soon as the details began to come out, long term interest rates started going down more. Now, why? I'll tell you why. It's not a mystery.

"Those financial markets, filled with analyists who look at the future and try to figure out whether or not this nation has any determination at all to control our financial future, have for several years now been pushing long-term interest rates on mortgages for homes and farms, mortages for everything that you buy—of cars, they've been pushing those interest rates way up because of what they see as a tremendous risk. They see America's financial future due to the lack of any sense of responsibility on the part of its leaders.

"As soon as President Bill Clinton began to present to the American people a common-sense plan for spending cuts and revenue increases, deficit reduction, and growth in jobs, those same analysts in financial markets began to change their minds about America's future. And in the thousands of transactions that make up the marketplace they began to bring those interest rates down. It's not a technical matter. It means that your constituents can refinance their home mortgages with lower monthly payments. It means that it's cheaper to buy a Saturn automobile from Tennessee. (Laughter) It means that it's cheaper to finance a business expansion or to buy a farm. That's the benefit of having leadership from Bill Clinton to reclaim our economic future. (Applause)

"But we must have leadership not only from the President of the United States; we must have the same kind of courage from the Congress that you in this Legislature have already shown. The special interests tried to prevent you from doing what you did and I guarantee you that the special interests are out in force in Washington, walking the hallways saying 'get rid of your courage, stop thinking about the future, worry about this special interest.' How can we overcome that? Very simply. By having the American people communicate their concerns of the future to the elected representatives in the House and the Senate.

"For too long we have been ignoring that. We've got to change, ladies and gentlemen. We've got to start telling our children that we are going to prepare for them the brightest future that we are capable of preparing. President Clinton is right. Instead of asking 'what's in it for me,' we must ask each other 'what's in it for us—for our children—for our future—for North Carolina—for the United States of America.' It's time for the new direction that President Clinton has offered. We cannot allow this plan to die from a thousand cuts inflicted by self-interested and shortsighted attacks. We cannot allow those who wish to guard the gridlock and continue in action to kill this plan.

"We can work together to keep our nation together and support a balanced package for America. It is a clear choice. It is not an easy choice. But it is the choice which we must make together as a nation. A choice that we must make as parents committed to our children, as neighbors committed to our communities, as Americans committed to our nation. We have the courage to change, to act boldly, to extend our horizons, and to realize our dreams. We must summon that courage and that spirit that's always made America great and strong. We must be true to the best of our traditions and the promise of our future. With your help, and with God's continued blessings on this great nation, we will reclaim our future. Thank you, very much." (Applause)

STATE-OF-THE-JUDICIARY
CHIEF JUSTICE JAMES G. EXUM, JR.

"President Wicker, President Pro Tempore Basnight, Speaker Blue, Speaker Pro Tempore Colton, Senators and Representatives, Justices and Judges, ladies and gentlemen:

"I like calling North Carolina home and I do. And, that's no April Fool.

"Thank you for this opportunity to speak about the Judicial Branch of government—probably the least understood, and, according to Alexander Hamilton, the 'least dangerous,' branch. (Laughter)

"This is the third time you have invited me to do this. I hope it will become, if it isn't already, a tradition which legislatures and chief justices in the future will follow, not because they must but because they think it is a good thing to develop.

"In 1989, I emphasized the great growth in our caseloads and the need for increased personnel. I spoke of the promise of certain alternative methods other than courtroom adjudication for resolving disputes, which were then in pilot stages in several of our judicial districts. I urged you to increase the salaries of our judges, and I asked you to submit to the people a constitutional amendment which would change the way we select and retain judges from a partisan elective system to an appointive system.

"In 1991, I again spoke of the continued increase in case filings and I thank you for giving us some of the additional personnel we had asked for in 1989, without which, I said, our courts at that time 'would have been...in or on the verge of crisis.' I urged you again as strongly as I could to let the people speak on this question of judicial selection, and I emphasized the need for additional funding to provide counsel for indigent criminal defendants.

Constitutional Mandates

"Today, many may be relieved to hear, I am not going to talk about judicial selection. I have said all I can think of to say on this issue. Suffice it to say now that we continue to lose sitting judges from both parties to the elective process. Others may be urging you to send a constitutional amendment to the people similar to the one recommended by your Judicial Selection Study Commission in 1989. I support this effort, as do most of our judges. I hope you will not wait until the system is broken on the anvil of partisan elections before you decide to fix it. Preventative maintenance, as in most other circumstances, is the best way to go.

"Neither will I speak on the need for increased judicial compensation. On this issue, let me simply refer you to the recommendations your Legislative and Judicial Salary Study Commission made to you in 1990. Copies of that report are attached to the written report I have for you today.

"Today I want to discuss the challenges facing our judicial branch in the context of what is constitutionally prescribed for it and in the context of the society in which we live.

"The Magna Carter [sic] of 1215, guaranteed to the English people 'to no one will we delay right or justice.' The North Carolina Constitution echoes this provision in Article I, Section 19:

> All courts shall be open; every person for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person, or reputation shall have remedy by due course of law; and right and justice shall be administered without favor, denial or delay.

This provision defines the central mission of our courts. It means first, that our courts must be available to all persons rich or poor who claim to have been injured by someone else; and second, that the courts must provide some remedy, as prescribed by law.

"The point I want to make here is that the judicial branch operates under a constitutional mandate, one of the oldest mandates in the English speaking world. The courts have no choice but to do what the Constitution demands. We cannot refuse to hear and determine claims lawfully brought before us. We have no control over the number or nature of these claims. We must, under the Constitution, accept them as they come and decide them one way or the other.

"And let me suggest to you that the legislative branch likewise has no choice about whether to provide the funds and resources to enable the judicial branch to do its work. The Constitution by implication at least requires that this be done. Our courts are not a discretionary program to be funded or not funded depending on our, or your, desires. Whether to fund them so that they can adequately accomplish their constitutional mission is a decision which the Constitution has already made for us. The constitutional decision is that the courts must be adequately funded.

"Now, I am glad to say and I thank you for the fact that this General Assembly has always recognized these things and has responded relatively well to the requests we have made of you in the past. The issue with you has never been will the funds be provided but rather, how much is adequate. You have relied on us to inform you and have properly insisted that we defend our notions of adequacy. Our policy has been to be 'up front' and honest with you and not to over-plead. In our current funding requests, which are large, we have continued this policy.

Society's Impact

"What now of the society in which we live and how it affects our courts?

"There is, as you know, an awful lot of 'injuries to others' going on out there. Perhaps the overriding issue of our time is the rampant intentional violence which seems to permeate not only relationships among adults but also relationships among the very young. There is a lot of alienation, and polarization, among our people. There is less tolerance of opposing views. Disagreements tend to be disagreeable. Violence is too often the resolution of choice—violence in the streets, violence in the home, and violence in the schools. We are so bombarded in the media with accounts of violence that, God forbid, we are fast becoming desensitized to it. But, ladies and gentlemen, we must never give in to violence. North Carolina is suffering from the kinds of problems we once thought were reserved for large, urban states. These problems are not only in metropolitan areas; the peace and solitude of many of our rural communities has been shaken as well.

"The more violent and lawless our society becomes, the more work our courts have to do. Some say that our courts are so overburdened with criminal cases that they are in 'crisis' and unable to carry out their constitutional mandate. While the lack of available jail and prison space has reached critical proportions, I do not think our courts, per se, are in crisis, yet; but they could well be if you do not continue to provide the necessary personnel and equipment our courts need to meet the challenges they face today.

The Court's Workload

"The court system, ladies and gentlemen, is now operating under the most severe strain that I can recall in my twenty-six years on the bench.

"During the last eight years case filings per year have grown 54.6%, from 1,643,196 filings in 1983-84 to 2,541,175 in 1991-92. Cases pending at the end of each year are growing both in size and in age. In the last eight years total cases pending in superior court at the end of the year have increased by 108%, from 36,025 in 1984 to 74,817 in 1992. Felony cases pending grew by 168%, and pending domestic relations cases in district court, by 66%. Court personnel during these years grew by only 27%.

"For the first time since I can recall, we are having to cancel regularly scheduled sessions of court because we do not have enough superior court judges to staff them. Our superior court judges are stretched thinner than they have ever been.

"Justice should be timely. The Constitution promises that it will be 'without...delay.' Today, in too many instances this promise is not being kept. Most would agree that a year is a long time to have one's life disrupted. It is a long time for the business whose future depends on the outcome of pending civil litigation. It is a long time for a defendant in a criminal action to await trial. It is a long time for a victim of crime, or his or her family, to wait for the point at which they can begin to rebuild their lives. It is a long time for a family to wait for a determination of with whom a child will live after a marriage has ended.

"As of June 30, 1992, 6,284 civil cases pending in our courts were over one year old. Almost 10,000 felony criminal cases were over one year old. In district court 15,327 misdemeanor cases were over one year old, and 13,606 domestic relations cases were still waiting to be resolved after one year. For those whose lives were disrupted, by these cases, our courts have not delivered justice without delay.

"Yet our judges and other officials are working harder and disposing of more cases than ever before. I continue to be proud of their effort and dedication.

"Again, comparisons from eight years ago to the year ending last June show that annual case dispositions per judge and per prosecutor are way up: from 1181 to 1692 for superior court judges; from 8754 to 10,934 per year for district judges; and from 4860 to 6331 per year per prosecutor. In our clerks' offices the cases handled per employee per year have gone from 1022 to 1317.

"Comparisons in other areas demonstrate the dramatic increase in the work of the judicial branch over the last several years. For example, child support collections amounted last year to $310,000,000, as compared to $90,000,000 in 1984 and $209,000,000 in 1988.

Court Improvements

"Not only are our people in the judicial branch working harder than ever; we are also constantly trying to improve our efficiency, the quality of our work and the satisfaction of disputants with the process. Our alternative dispute resolution programs, which you have wisely authorized, promise to be one of the best ways to accomplish these goals.

"With your support and the support of bench and bar, particularly the North Carolina Bar Association, North Carolina has become a leader in Alternative Dispute Resolution. Cases which before ADR may have been resolved after lengthy trials are now being addressed by arbitrators and mediators assigned to the cases by court order. Last year the twelve judicial districts with court ordered arbitration conducted 1610 arbitration hearings. This compares with 1126 civil jury trials in all of the superior and district courts throughout the state during the same period. In the four districts where we have child custody mediation, 317 cases were successfully mediated last year, saving the agony of a courtroom battle over this difficult issue. Our experiment in Mandatory Mediated Settlement, which you authorized last session, is well underway. Early reports are quite favorable.

"We are also challenging the traditional ways in which court itself is managed. Last year, relying on grant funding, we began experimenting with night court in the district courts in Wake and Buncombe Counties. In Mecklenburg County a session of superior court is devoted entirely to handling felony drug cases. That court conducts trials during the day and arraignments at night. In ten districts Chief District Court Judges have implemented administrative courts aimed at reducing inconvenience to the public, attorneys, and witnesses and at the same time, making court calendars more productive.

"Over the last two years we have stressed the need for local judicial leadership in developing new management techniques for our trial divisions. In twelve judicial districts we have established an 18-month pilot project in which our judges with administrative authority are challenged to reach certain performance standards aimed at improving the use of court time, the productivity of calendars, and management of jurors. Where new methods work, we intend to put them in all our districts.

"We have followed closely your efforts to make government less costly. Within the judicial branch we have already undertaken a number of cost-savings measures. We have reduced jury fees by nearly one million dollars annually. By concentrating on recovery of indigent persons attorney fees we are putting back nearly $4,000,000 annually into the fund which pays for these attorneys. By implementing a system for electronically reporting over 2.4 million drivers license convictions annually to the Department of Motor Vehicles, this eliminates time consuming manual reports and duplicate data entry requirements.

Recommendations

This year I ask you to do these things for us.

—Grant the resources, both personnel and equipment, which are contained in our continuation and expansion budgets.

—Keep our deputy clerks' and magistrates' pay plans intact. These people through their hard work and commitment to their jobs have proved themselves deserving of the confidence you placed in them when you adopted these plans in the first place.

—Fund at adequate levels the Indigent Persons Attorney Fee Fund. This fund is already exhausted in at least seven judicial districts. The lawyers in those districts, to their credit, are continuing to represent indigent criminal defendants with only the promise that they may be paid sometime in the future. This is not fair. Neither we, nor you, have any choice but to furnish counsel at adequate pay for indigent criminal defendants. Both the federal and state Constitutions mandate that this be done. We have no choice but to do so fairly and adequately.

—Reestablish and fund the Courts Commission so that there will be one body representative of the courts, the legislature and the people which can conduct ongoing studies of the needs and operation of our court system and make recommendations to you and us for its improvement.

"In addition to these things, I think it is time for you to reduce the size of our judicial divisions—to divide in half the First Judicial Division in the east and consider doing the same for the Second Division which is the next division to the west. A map showing the judicial divisions is attached. These are our two largest divisions geographically. This would reduce the time and distance the superior court judges in these divisions spend traveling from one district to the other in compliance with our system of rotation of judges mandated by the Constitution. It would promote the efficiency of the superior courts in these divisions without adversely affecting their impartiality and the justice they administer. Division Four presents some real problems. Seems nobody wants to be sent forever to Charlotte!

"I urge you to adopt the recommendations of the Sentencing Policy Advisory Commission. We definitely need more prisons in North Carolina as the Commission wisely recommends. But we also need a sentencing system which is resource predictive—which tells you not only how many prison beds are needed but also how many other sorts of resources are needed for persons who are not sent to prison. Prisons need to be reserved for those who commit the worst crimes and who present the greatest danger to society. Other kinds of punishment need to be devised which will hold those who commit lesser offenses and who are not a future threat properly accountable for their wrongs. But alternatives to imprisonment will not work unless there is a meaningful threat of imprisonment to put teeth in the alternatives.

"Fighting crime is important; it is one of the first obligations of government; it is also expensive. The recommendations of the Commission take these propositions into proper account. With a sentencing system like that recommended by the Commission you can get as tough on crime as you wish; but you will be able responsibly to estimate the resources that are needed to get tough and to provide them accordingly. In other words you can put such numbers in the grid as you want and can afford. It is the idea of the predictive grid that I hope you will adopt.

"Let me now end where I began—with the society in which we live and the place of our courts in that society. The Constitution mandates that our courts provide remedy as the law requires to those who have been hurt by others. The courts are not the answer to those conditions which cause people to hurt other people. The courts are but the last repositories for the grievances themselves, dealing with them only after other institutions—families, schools, churches, friends, colleagues—have failed to prevent them.

"There was a recent article in the News and Record, formerly the Greensboro News and Record, by David DuBuisson, which recounts 'the old political adage which says that if you own a problem, you can live off it forever, but if you own the solution, you're in danger of putting yourself out of business.' Our courts are in no danger of putting themselves out of business because we do not own the solutions to violence and crime which permeate our culture. Our courts will be here forever because we own only the problems which the people bring to us.

"One of this country's greatest judges, Judge Learned Hand of the 2d Circuit Court of Appeals in the federal system, put it this way, when he wrote in 1942:

> [T]his much I think I do know—that a society so riven that the spirit of moderation is gone, no court can save; that a society where that spirit flourishes, no court need save; that in a society which evades its responsibility by thrusting upon the courts the nurture of that spirit, that spirit in the end will perish.

"Our courts can never be the savior of society; but we do not shrink from our constitutional obligation to provide remedy without favor, denial or delay. The judicial branch, respecting as it does this General Assembly, knows that neither will you shrink from your responsibility to provide us what we need so we can do as the Constitution commands. We need your understanding and your help.

"Thank you for your attention."

Remarks offered by Senator Ballance:

HALIFAX RESOLVES
April 12, 1776

This date commemorates the Halifax Resolves, a document that places the Old North State in the very front rank, both in point of time and in spirit, among those demanding unconditional freedom and absolute independence from any foreign power. North Carolina, on April 12, 1776, authorized her delegates to the Continental Congress to vote for independence. This was the first official action by a Colony calling for independence. Eighty three delegates present in Halifax at the Fourth Provincial Congress unanimously adopted the Halifax Resolves. This document stands out as one of the great landmarks in the annals of North Carolina history.

The Halifax Resolves were not only important because they were the first official action calling for independence, but also because they were not a unilateral recommendation. They were instead recommendations directed to all the colonies and their delegates assembled at the Continental Congress in Philadelphia. Virginia followed with her own recommendations soon after adoption of the Halifax Resolution and eventually on July 4, the final draft of the Declaration of Independence was signed. William Hooper, Joseph Hewes, and John Penn were the delegates from North Carolina who signed the Declaration of Independence.

ALPHABETICAL INDEX

АЛФАВИТЕН ИНДЕКС

ALPHABETICAL INDEX

Titles of the North Carolina General Statutes (see page 2005) form the basis for this alphabetical index with a cross-index to the subject matter. Local legislation is placed under the county it affects. For example, a bill allowing the City of Raleigh to levy an occupancy tax can be found under the heading Taxation (Occupancy) and also under Wake County (Raleigh), cross-indexed from Occupancy Tax to Taxation.

The identical bill number, when applicable, and the final action taken on the measure are noted following the title. When ratified, the Chapter Number of the Session Laws is reflected.

Bills included by reference or identifiable within another measure are reflected with the final action.
